Regulatory Monitoring

Mermet makes an effort to keep up to date with regulatory issues that may impact the textile and window covering industry. There are numerous active and proposed laws and regulations internationally, on the US national level, and US state level.

It is the responsibility of Mermet customers to identify and interpret laws and regulations related to their specific market situation and geographic location and to evaluate the relevance and implications of all laws for their business. We recommend that you consult with your own legal counsel for guidance and assistance.

Chemical Compliance

Many regulations relate to the chemical composition of a product. Mermet provides the breakdown of full product compositions in the form of Health Product Declarations (HPDs). HPDs are publicly available online. The HPD is the best source for determining chemical compliance with laws and regulations. Mermet customers should review these documents to assist in determining their own regulatory compliance and any legal impact.

HPDs can be found on MermetUSA.com/all-fabrics by locating the fabric of interest, clicking Download Certificates, and downloading the HPD file.
