

advancing fenestration efficiency

“Shades need to be evaluated as early as possible – ideally alongside glass –in order to deliver on the design intent for a building.”

Colin Blackford, Innovation Manager at Mermet

Sun Control Textiles™

Contact your local presenter for reservations

Level:

Intermediate

Qualifying Credits:

On Demand

- AIA / 1.00 CE Hours LU/HSW

In Person

- AIA / 1.00 CE Hours LU/HSW
- GBCI / 1.00 CE Hours
- IDCEC / 1.00 CE Hours

IDCEC

Members of ASID, IIDA, or IDC will have credits reported on their behalf. All members and non-members will be provided a certificate of completion.

GBCI

All CMP activities are to be self-reported under the “My Credentials” section on GBCI.org. Certificates of completion will be provided to LEED attendees who complete at least 80% of the course.

AIA

Credits earned on completion of this course will be reported for AIA members. Certificates of completion will be provided to all who complete the course.

Southwest Region

Lisa Brown, LEED Green Associate

C: 520.222.2860 E: lisa.brown@mermetusa.com

Mid-Atlantic Region

Laine Haley

C: 410.991.8074 E: laine.haley@mermetusa.com

Northeast Region

John Fryc

C: 609.920.3044 E: john.fryc@mermetusa.com

West Region

Ethan Johnson

C: 714.371.7715 E: ethan.johnson@mermetusa.com

Central Region

Matt Keller

C: 847.471.7572 E: matt.keller@mermetusa.com

South-Central Region

Jill Kelly

C: 512.658.3440 E: jill.kelly@mermetusa.com

Southeast Region

Stacey Davis

C: 954.551.5108 E: stacey.davis@mermetusa.com

Learning Objectives:

- Describe the historical trends and influencing in fenestration specification from 1970 to today.
- Understand the current methodologies available to quantify the performance impacts of different fenestration systems and describe new research being conducted that will enhance and simplify quantification.
- Explain the value of specifying fenestration as an integrated system.
- Create building designs that maximize energy efficiency and occupant comfort through smarter fenestration specification.

Course Formats

- Available on demand at mermetusa.com under Architect / Designer – Continuing Education
- In person presentations are available by appointment only

